

Riviera Maya, Mexico

July 31 — Aug 7, 2011

7 Nights, Your choice of dive package

This is not your average trip to Mexico! Jon & Tanya at Professional Scuba Instruction have designed a trip for the entire family. Divers, non-divers, and children will enjoy everything Akumal has to offer. The Riviera Maya offers spectacular ocean diving, and is home to some of the world's most intricate and extensive underground systems. But there is more to do than just dive. You can explore the Mayan ruins, zip line through the jungle, explore dry cave systems, walk through the towns of Tulum and Playa del Carmen, or just relax on the beach.

Villas DeRosa Beach Resort, Akumal

This small beach resort features comfortable two- and three-bedroom condo units, with a spacious living room and kitchen. You can relax on your private patio or balcony, overlooking the ocean with the warm, clear waters of the Caribbean only 50 feet away. The shallow reef system close to shore provides easy beach access snorkeling for anyone in the family.

Akumal is not only beautiful below the clear waters, but many magnificent features exist on land as well. The ruins of Tulum and Coba are only a short drive from the condos. Also, Akumal is home to huge Loggerhead and Green turtle populations that lay their eggs during July and August. It is not uncommon to see these creatures on the beach every night right in front of your patio preparing their nests.

The Underwater World

For ocean dives, you will be picked up right at the resort, and the colorful reefs are only a five minute boat ride away. The sites feature colorful reefs, tropical fish, and a good chance of seeing loggerhead or green turtles.

Cenotes (Cavern Diving)

Mayans believed that these sinkholes were gateways to the afterlife. Today divers use them as gateways to beautiful caverns with stalactites and stalagmites that formed over 10,000 years ago.

Even without a cavern diver rating, you can explore these spectacular caverns with an experienced local guide. Each cavern is unique, and will leave you in awe.

Cave Diving

If you are a cave diver or interested in becoming one, then this is the place to learn and explore. The cave systems in this region are some of the most extensive and decorated systems in the world.
